Money Called for Cuba; Slump in Stock Prices

New York, April 12 (By A. P.). Heavy calling of bank loans to meet the Cuban demand for funds growing out of the run on certain institutions in Havana was accompanied today by a heavy selling movement on the New York Stock Exchange, during which thirty issues crashed to new low levels for the year. and scores of others fell 8 to 12 points. While only about $25,-00,000 in loans was called, it is estimated that $50,000,000 was withdrawn from the New York market as a result of the Cuban situation.

Selling appears to have originated largely with bear traders, who conducted another success ful attack on the motor shares.

HUSBAND GETS ESTATE

Philadelphia, April 12 (By A. P.).—Justice Kephart, of the Pennsylvania supreme court, today upheld the will of Mrs. Mary Lee Wertheimer, widow of Archer Harmon, wealthy railroad builder and late wife of Leo Wertheimer. New York lawyer.

The will had been contested on the grounds of "alcoholic insanity." A descendant of Gen. Robert E. Lee, of Confederate army fame, Mrs. Wertheimer was born in Missen in the conference and the ministerial conduct against him. The convention held six hearings, but nothing of the specific charges of evidence against Steinberg. FILM . . . the trouble maker Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film, a viscous coat that covers them.

That film is an enemy to your teeth—and your gums. You must remove it.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs discolorations and gives your teeth that cloudy, "off-color" look. It is the basis of tartar. Germs by millions breed in it, and they, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea and gum disorders.

Jargely on dental advice, the world has turned to this method. A few days' use will prove its power beyond all doubt.

Four times around the deck-1 Mile

You breathe deeply of the sea air as you step briskly across the broad expanse of deck on the great White Star liner. But this is only one of the numerous forms of exercise that tone you up aboard our ships. There are quoits, shuffle-board, deck-tennis, squash, to say nothing of the electric horse in the modernly equipped gymnasium. Then a turn in the luxurious Turkish bath or a dip into the Majestic's Pompeiian swimming pool. These things leave you in high spirits and with a keen appetite for the splendid table for which our ships are famous.

Travel problems are quickly solved if you bring them to us. We have 226 sailings for you to choose from. Our fleet of over a million tons offers just the accommodation you require. Services from New York, Boston and Montreal.

PAN-AMERICAN JOURNALISM.

The first Pan-American congress of journalists, now in session in Washington, will doubtless result in the establishment of a permanent organization and the holding of periodical congresses. The beneficial results of the first congress are already apparent, and will be manifested more strikingly hereafter in the form of enlightened and friendly discussion by the press of all questions affecting the Americas.

United States journalism is a mere youth in comparison with the journalism of Latin America. Nearly a century before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth the first printed news sheet appeared in this hemisphere. It bore a long title beginning with Relacion and came from the press of Juan Cromberger in the City of Mexico in 1541.

Three years later appeared the first news sheet in South America. In 1594 at Lima. Peru, a Relacion was printed to give the news of the capture, off the Peruvian coast, of Richard Hawkins, the freebooter, and of his ship, the Dainty.

But it was not until 1620 that printed sheets were issued dealing with more than one item of news. From that year on Jeronimo de Contreras, "father of South American journalism," printed a number of real newspapers in his plant at Lima. He gave space to local news.

After the press of de Contreras had suspended there was a cessation of news sheets until 1744, when the Gazeta de Lima appeared to tell about the crime wave sweeping over that city. Robberies were about as common as they are in New York today.

As a matter of historical interest it may be worth while to print in English for the first time a list of the pioneer news sheets in the various countries of Pan-America. This list has been kindly furnished to The Post by Mr. James Melvin Lee, director of the department of journalism of New York university. and author of the "History of American Jour-

Perhaps it would help to use fewer pictures of the criminal's victims and more pictures of the hanging.

NEW JERSEY'S THREATENED LOSS.

For a century or more the principal products of New Jersey have been applejack and mosquitoes. There is probably just as much of the former made in Senator Edwards' State as there was before the world war, when the late Senator "Jim" Martine attempted to secure the enactment of a bill to place "Jersey lightning" on an equality with the grain of the Western farmers, who were then, as now, trying to get storage legislation through Congress. The only difference in the matter of that most essential product of the New Jersey orchards, comparing conditions in 1926 with those of 1916, is the difficulty in securing the real article, for even applejack has been plagiarized and pirated, cut and doctored, by the ubiquitous bootlegger.

While the glory of her world-known distillation has departed, New Jersey, in which once resided two Presidents and William Walter Phelps, the statesman of Tea Neck, whose bang, like that of Senator Eugene Hale, of Maine rivaled the Hyperion curl of the late Roscoe Conkling, still remains without a rival on earth in the matter of the production of flerce, sayage gallinippers. The Jersey "skeeter" is sui generis. Even the now extinct breeders of yellow fever which were driven out of Panama and the West Indies by the late Dr. Walter Reed and Dr. Gorgas, never had a look-in in the race for the championship for ferocity with the Jer sey sword-bearing or saber-tooth variety. Firsttime visitors to Cape May and other "pleasure resorts" along the Jersey shore have frequently mistaken these mosquitoes for jack snipe, for when flying toward one they appear to have the same tip-to-tip spread of wing and length of proboscis. The advent of the airplane was not novelty to Jerseyites. They merely mistook it for a Barnegat bay skeeter on a rampage. Now Jersey's mosquitoes are to be tackled that still greater pest, the developer. Tired of the dullness of business in Miami, the developer is about to operate on the Hackensack

15,000 acres in these skeeter-breeding grounds. They are to be reclaimed. Soon the sand-suckers will be installed and the "flats" will be filled in. Homes, factories, parks and other improvements are to replace the swamps and The mosquito was invincible in his day, but his offensive armament is obsolete in comparison with the equipment of the real esinto the limbo of oblivion.

THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM.

The twelfth annual report of the Federal Reserve Roard dated March 22 1926 presents an interesting picture of the operations of the Federal Reserve system during 1925. The two outstanding financial developments of the year were the large volume of production and trade financed by the banks of the country, and the progress made in the restoration of the gold standard throughout the world.

Perhaps the most notable fact during the year 1925 was the conservative attitude generally maintained by the business community at a time when the activity of business was large, and the temptation to expand was very strong. Says the reserve board:

Seldom in the history of American business has so large a growth in industrial activity occurred without giving rise to marked speculative tendencies.

The credit policy of the Federal Reserve Board is based on business conditions and the judgment of business men and bankers. Credit and discount rates vary according to demand and supply and general business conditions. However, many factors enter into this prob-

The Federal Reserve system's operations abroad have widened through the extensions of acceptances and the export movement of gold. During the first ten years of the operations of the Federal Reserve system its activities in the foreign field were relatively small, largely because of the disturbed monetary conditions abroad. Today numerous foreign central banks have established correspondent relationships with the Federal reserve banks.

Next in importance during the year 1925 was a return to the gold standard by many foreign countries, notably Great Britain. The Bank of England applied to the Federal Reserve system for the right to draw upon the reserve banks for gold not exceeding $200,000,-000; while the British government arranged for a private gold loan of $100,000,000.

The Federal Reserve Board approved these transactions, believing that a restoration of the gold standard would benefit American business and credit by helping to stabilize prices of American agricultural commodities abroad.

During 1925 the volume of reserve bank credit followed closely the volume of money in circulation. Bank credit increased about $250,000,000 in the year. The outstanding volume of Federal reserve notes increased approximately $200,000,000 during the year.

Gross earnings of the Federal reserve banks during 1925 were about $41,800,000; operating expenses about $25,725,000. Deducting certain other items, the net earnings of the Federal banks were about $14,273,000. While the number of member banks decreased by 98 total resources increased about $2,438,000,000.

Most of the 612 banks suspended during the year were in small cities and towns; only 23 suspended in cities over 25,000 in population. Of the total number of suspended banks, 354 were in the Minneapolis, Chicago and Kansas City districts. More than 169 of these suspended banks were in towns with less than 500 inhabitants.

On the whole, the 1925 business of the Federal Reserve system reflects both the improve ment and permanence of business activity.

Suckers aren't so green. They find confi dence men the law's agents never seem able to

AIDING CUBA.

Something like $80,000,000 has been sent to Cuba by American and Canadian banks to meet the demands of frightened depositors in the ulation in sugar and sugar plantations is the cause of the bank flurries. It is estimated that more than a billion dollars in American money alone is invested in Cuban sugar and sugar mills and plantations.

Cuba is the greatest sugar-producing country in the world; and this season the Cuban and world production of sugar has increased enormously. As a consequence the price has declined. Reported loss in the value of sugar crops and land held as security for large loans precipitated the run on the banks.

The trouble in Cuban banking circles has nothing to do with the American tariff on Cuban sugar. Foreign sugar has to pay less import duty in the United States than elsewhere: and Cuban sugar has a 20 per cent discount below the full duty because of reci-

The American import duty on Cuban raw sugar is the only thing that protects the American sugar industry from complete ruin. At the same time the retail price of refined sugar has declined.

The trouble in Cuba is excessive foreign, principally American, speculation in sugar.

It is probable, however, that where people know least about evolution there is more of it

THE DISTRICT OF TUTUILA.

Senator Lenroot wants the United States to accept the cession of the island of Tutuila and the other islands of the Samoan group made to this country by certain chiefs on April 10, 1900, and July 16, 1904. He proposes that this land shall be called the District of Tutuila a part of the insular territory of the United States, and that a governor and a Federal judge shall be appointed over this new dis

NEWSPAPER ETHICS.

Muckraking, sensationali, yellow journalism-call it by what name you will-may have reached its climax in modern times and, possibly, in this country, but it was well known and practiced at earlier periods and in other lands. In the Spectator of Monday, December 31, 1711, Addison thanked the public for its kind acceptance of a paper, which visited it every morning, and yet had none of the season ings that recommended so many of the publications then in vogue. What the "seasonings" were he proceeded to show, thus:

As, on the one side, my paper has not in it a single word of news, a reflection in politics, nor a stroke of party; so, on the other, there are no fashionable touches of infidelity, no obscene ideas, no satires upon priesthood, marriage, and the like popular topics of ridicule; no private scan-dal, nor anything that may tend to the defamation of particular persons, families, or societies. There is not one of those above-mentioned subjects that would not sell a very indifferent paper, could I think of gratifying the public by such mean and

The temptation to pander to the lower in stincts of human nature is ever present to the conductor of any periodical publication, especially, perhaps, of a daily newspaper, which depends so largely for its financial success upon the extent of its circulation, but it is a temptation that must be firmly and sternly resisted in the interests of morality, decency, justice and charity, if the publication in question is to have any weight in the community The appearance, in particular, of anything supposed to be salacious will quickly command sale, as witness the rapidity with which recently a magazine, officially banned for, as alleged, offending in this way, disappeared from book stalls and drug store counters, bought up in hot haste by the pruriently cu rious.

In such matters restraint must be strictly exercised by any publisher or editor who values his reputation. He will have his reward, too. Addison was able to boast that, without any of the adventitious aids which he specified, the demand for the Spectator increased month by month. Of the services which he rendered to society Macaulay has given the following eloquent testimony:

He taught the nation that the faith and morality of Hale and Tillotson might be found in company with wit more sparkling than the wit of Congreve, and with humour richer than the humour of Van-So effectually, indeed, did he re tort on vice the mockery which had re-cently been directed against virtue, that, since his time, the open violation of decency has always been consider ed among us as the mark of a fool. And this revolution, the greatest and most salutary ever effected by any satirist, he accomplished, be it remembered, without writing one personal lampoon.

The modern newspaper can not, indeed, eschew news and party politics, as Addison's Spectator did, for it would in that case b abandoning some of its principal functions. but it can, and should, be conducted on the principle enunciated by Dr. Walter Williams that "no one should write as a journalist that which one can not say as a gentleman.

The smaller the town the easier it is to look haughty in a closed flivver.

Many a congressman's words sound con vincingly dry because you aren't close enough to smell them.

The Worst Joke I heard today was told to me by Gip Scott, of Sacramento, Calif., and Ft. Gibson, Indian Territory.

Gip has always worked in Banks. As a young fellow he was always a little bit highertoned than us old country boys. But he was a good fellow, even for a Banker. In the old Territory days there was no such things as Banking laws or examiners. Anybody that wanted to could start a Bank. An old Ranchman decided he would like to be a Banker He rented an old empty building, got a safe. put up a sign which said, "Bank." hadn't got it opened good till an old "Nester" come in and deposited $25, and the next day come in and deposited $25, and the next day another $50. Every day or so another would drop in and deposit something. Finally one day he got to thinking; got up, looked at his safe, went outside and looked at his sign, spelling "Bank," and said to himself, "Why, the durn thing looks all right, and it says Bank, and these other people are putting their money in. May be the durn thing is a Bank. Blamed if I don't just put in $10 myself, even if I lose it!"

A Guide Book to Demagogues By GLENN FRANK.

EMAGOGUERY is one of the poisons that democracy and dictatorship alike generate.

commercial air activities by the establishment of airways and at ports.

The naval program was passed by a vote of 297 to 39 and now goes to the Senate. The other bill, known as the Bingham-Parker bill, was approved 225 to 80. It already had received Senate approval and goes to conference between the two houses for adjustment of minor differences.

The bills embody a number of recommendations of both the President's air board and the House air craft committee of the last Congress.

The naval bill was assailed by some members who contended its passage would preclude for five years at least any action for a department of national defense or a unified air service.

The Bingham-Parker measure was opposed by a group of Democrats headed by Representatives Bland, of Virginia, and Huddleston of Alabama, who sought to climinate authority for the new Assistant Secretary of Commerce on the size of the Federal administrative setablishment.

Mr. Huddleston also contended the Bill would infringe upon the right of States to control intrastate air commerce.

"Yes, he might have been ill; he probably was. They usually get that way when they're drunk." But defense counsel did not let it go at that.

Did Not Call Doctor.

"Did you call a physician to determine whether Col. Williams was sick or intoxicated?"

"No, I didn't," replied the witness. "A doctor might have helped the intoxication some, but he could not have cured the situation Col. Williams created.

"But, why did you not call a board of inquiry to determine whether the colonel actually was intoxicated before moving to courtmartial him?"

"Because," retorted Gen. Butler with asperity, "in the ordinary procedure of the marine corps we do not call boards of inquiry to investigate the condition of people we know are drunk."

"Yes. I know—because I overheard. It was one day just after his accident. Every one was out except Pat, and when I had gone part-way home to the Rectory I remembered that I'd left some accounts of Lady Mary's which I wanted to go through, in the sunparlor. So I went back to fetch them. When I reached the sunparlor door I heard voices—Pat's and Kerry's. They sounded—different from usual. I can't quite explain it, but somehow I got the impression they weren't just talking ordinarily together." She paused and looked across at Mark. He nodded understandingly. nodded understandingly.

"I know what you mean," he said.

"Well, that made me pause outside the door just a moment before breaking in on them, and then I heard Pat ask him to forgive her and take her with him to Rhodesia. I heard that, and his answer: 'No, I will not.' His voice sounded dreadful." She shivered a little. "I went away then. But you know what happened afterward — everything came to an end between them."

Kit joyfully accepted the invitation for himself and Nancy. It would be the very thing for the latter, he declared, and although Nancy could not but look forward to the trip from a personal point of view, her heart sang as she realized that there was going to be no particular outcome of her interview with Mark, after all—that interview which had cost her so many heart-searchings and not a few tears.

Somehow he must have misunderstood her—completely. Obviously no thought of breaking off his engagement with Patricia had entered his head. He had only been thinking what more he could do to add to her enjoyment of life. A cruise in the Silver Butterfly as a cure for a broken heart! Nancy all globe hysterically as she thought of it, then cried hot tears into her pillow, and no persuasion of her bewildered husband's could drag from her the cause of either her laughter or her tears.

Courage

667 HAVE not yet begun to fight." It took supreme courage for John Paul Jones to fling his taunt to the man-o'-war Serapis and continue to rake the Briton with round and solid shot against great odds.

It has also taken courage for Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Company to weather the storms of financial and international upheaval which have beset its course through the last fiftyseven years. And to come through unscathed, is a testimonial to that cour-

Our courage for the future is none the less staunch, and we offer it to you as an aid in your financial affairs.

TO THE INVESTOR who has never owned a Real Estate Bond

DESPITE the tremendous strides in public favor which first mortgage bonds have made in recent years, there still are many investors who have never bought them or even investigated their

The fact that sound first mortgage bonds should have a definite place in every modern investment list, however, is becoming more widely recognized each year. In 1925, for example, the total of city real estate bonds purchased by investors was close to one billion dollars.

This billion-dollar figure compares with a total of about five and one-half billions for all other securities representing private capital The First Mortgage Bonds sold by The F. H. Smith Company will bring to your investment list two definite advantages: 1. The non-fluctuating character of Smith Bonds will give you a degree of safety and stability that is not to be found in other classes of securities. Smith Bonds are pro-tected by safeguards that have resulted in our record of no loss to any investor in 53 years. 2. Smith Bonds will increase your average yield. The interest rate of 7% on our current offerings compares with an average return of slightly more than 5% on other high-grade investment securities.

For further particulars about the advantages of these bonds, send your name and address on the form below for our booklet, "Fifty-three Years of Proven Safety," and for descriptions of our 7% offerings.

Morning Workouts Daily; Harris' Ankle Is Wrenched.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

UST because the season starts today, the Nats are not through holding practice sessions. Manager Harris stated last night that he planned to hold workouts every morning that the team is home, for a few weeks at least.

The real competition between Pitchers Lefty Thomas, Jim Lyle and Bill Morrell for the right of one of this trio to wear one of Wash-ington's guady new uniforms for the season begins at tomorrow's session. Kelley, "the Kid," and "Bump" Hadley are certain to be two of the rookie hurlers to be retained, and, as Harris plans to keep three, the work of Morrell Thomas and Lyle during the practices will decide which two go back to the

On what he showed in Tampa and also because he is a left hander, Clarance Thomas' name at one time was first on the rookie preferred list, but conditions have changed somewhat and his chances now appear no brighter than those of Mor rell and Lyle.

BILL MORRELL has a baf-fling curve, a peculiar de-livery, fair control and is quite a student of the game, while Lyle's forte is a speedy side-arm ball, which, to the batter, apparently comes from a bundle of arms and legs. a bundle of arms and legs. Right now, Harris admits he is somewhat up in the air as to which is the best, but he promises to find out very shortly.

These morning drills are not being staged for the entire benefit of the young flingers, nowever, as Harris wants to perfect teamwork and get the signals working better, aside from giving the players a chance to improve their individual mechanical play. Sessions similar to those held at the Tampa camp are planned, with the pitchers working out against the batters and contact the simple contact and simple contact the simple cannot be some to grips in arenas which likely will witness an unusually spectacular contest for individual honors in the midst of close and exciting struggles for team supremacy.

The eve of the 1926 campaigns sourceful; ess and attacking with the contact the simple con e planned, with the pitchers orking out against the batters and both the outer and inner works get-ting plenty of fielding practice.

With the departure of the two young hopefuls who fail to make the pitching grade, the Nats will have reduced their squad to the twenty-five which they will be allowed to carry during the season. Teams do not have to pare down to this figure until June 15. but Harris figures he might just as well get rid of his excess talent now as then.

There are degrees of baseball enthusiasm. There is the fever heat, which has kept Washington in suspense during the past two years. By N. W. BAXTER. Sports Editor, The Post.

I' HE curtain rises today on the perennial sports drama of the United States-professional baseball.

The historic but never failing hit will be presented to Washington at 3 o'clock with the Nationals arrayed against Phila-delphia, one of the most defiant foemen of the many that the local team must subdue in order to win the American league pennant for the third straight year.

Vice President Dawes, Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War. and hundreds of other dignitaries of the government will be among the first day spectators, assuring for Washington, as always, the most colorful opening of any of the eight that will be staged in various sections of the land this afternoon.

team, not the United States Senate. By that time it ought to be in order to start the ball game.

Walter Johnson, as usual, will be the Washington pitcher. It has been more years than most baseball enthusiasts care to remember since anyone else has been given the pitching assignment for the first home game in Washington.

In other respects the Nationals will take the field.

The outcome of the major league pennant races established the Giants as slight National league favorites over the Pirates, with the Senators and Athletics equal choices in the American league.

Bettting commissioners reported they had placed wagers on the pitching assignment for the first chances of the Giants at 8 to 5 and on the Pirates at 2 to 1. There are to be no startling changes in the Philadelphia line-up Quaker City last night. For a good many years it has been Slim Harriss' lot to oppose Walter Johnson on opening days. Every team in the race is given complimentary mention by the two leaders of the big leagues. It would never do to overlook anybody. If it were not for these preseason statements, it might so happen that the followers of the sport would not know what teams intended to take part.

There is always one sure catch in the predictions, so-called, made by the diamond chief executives. The followers of the pastime are especially warned to look for the unexwarned to look for the unex-pected from the weakest team in the league. The club which finishes in eighth place may not get any of the glory in the fall, but it is more than flat-tered in the spring.

Therefore, it is only evidence of true form to find that Ban Johnson "indicated that he believed the Boston Red Sox would surprise many fans this season" and also "the Boston season" and also "the Boston Red Sox are beyond question a better ball club in several essentials than the one which trailed last season." If the President of the American league were called on to testify under oath he would not give the Boston team a chance, but fortunately for others as well as for Johnson there is no basis for perjury in baseball prognostications.

It may seem that the creation of statements such as these should weigh heavily on the consciences of their authors. The two presidents are hardened to the task. They have followed the same ritual for a good many years, and they are the recipients of salary checks of sufficient proportions to make up for any disagreeable duties of this nature that they may have to perform.

While "The Deacon" did not get much chance in games, he should realize that trying to break into the Harrisian line-up with such players as Goslin, Rice, Joe Harris, Tobin and McNeely on hand was a man's-size job for anyone, especially for a player of his type, who is anything but a hard hitter. The fourth race went to Muskallonge, an old campaigner which runs for Mrs. J. Rowan. He had enough bandages to weight him down, it appeared, but he put up a game fight, and had a margin of a length over Macbeth at the end.

The badly-handled Sun Rajah ran far below the form he had shown in other races, and got away sluggishly at the barrier. He was a bad third.

serted it was planned to stage it at the opening boxing attraction in the new Sesquicentennial stadium, pos-sibly on June 10.

The offer to fight Burke came from Lew Diamond, representing a New Orleans syndicate and was characterized as the "biggest ever made" for a bout in the Southern city. Curley suggested June 20 as city. Curley suggested June 20 as a date for the match.

Spring Chases Snow From Brewer Field

Milwaukee, April 12 (By A. P.) Two days of spring weather, which caused the last of the snow to vanish from the Milwaukee American association ball park, will enable Milwaukee and Louisville to open the season here Wednesday unless the season here Wednesday unless inclement weather is encountered. Last week the condition of the grounds was such that play seemed out of the question for at least two weeks. However, the turf has responded to bright sunshine and artificial heat, and will be in such shape that the players will at least be able to go through the motions.

GARCIA WINS RING LAW UP IN CHICAGO TODAY

BONDS MOVE UPWARD IN IRREGULAR MANNER

RAIL ISSUES STRONGEST

New York, April 12 (By the Associated Press) .- Bond prices con- Sale tinued to forge ahead today although a hardening of money rates reduced some of the early gains, leaving the list irregularly higher at the close. Trading moved at a slower pace with buying becoming more cautious as funds were with-drawn from Wall street to replace money forwarded to Havana to check Cuban bank runs.

Dealings in the foreign group were enlivened by the brisk rallies of Mexican and several European obligations. The understanding between the American and Mexican governments over alien property rights led to renewed accumulation of Mexico's government and rail-road bonds, with gains of 1 to 2 points resulting. French and Bel-gian issues extended their advance and have now virtually recovered all the ground lost on their recent slump.

Another sharp break in the prices of both railroad and industrial stocks failed to diminish the attracstocks failed to diminish the attractiveness of these bonds. An unusually strong buying movement developed for the carrier obligations with gains of 1 to 4 points recorded by Chesapeake & Ohio 5s, Northern Pacific 4s, New York, Susque-hanna & Western 5s, Lake Shore 3½s, Wabash first 5s, New York Central 3½s and Illinois Central

Price movements elsewhere were considerably mixed. St. Louis Tran-sit 5s advanced 6 points on a new sales and other strong features were Bethlehem Steel refunding 5s, Donner Steel 7s, Mid-Continent Petroletum 6 ½s and Warner Sugar 7s.

These gains were counteracted by declines of 1 to 3 points in Third Avenue Railway adjustment 5s. Dominion Iron & Steel 5s. Cuba Cane Sugar 7s, Interborough 5s and Portland Railway 6s.

Several new South American loans were reported under discussion, including small issues for a department of Colombia and for Bo-livia. Another German steel com-pany loan also was said to be in prospect.

The high bid made by Hallgarten & Co. for a $3.000,000 Uraguayan loan has been accepted and an early offering of 6 per cent bonds is scheduled.

Bell Urges Action
On Utility Measure

Lieut. Col. J. Franklin Bell, engineer commissioner, yesterday sent letters to the Senate and House District committees urging action on the pending bill to empower the District public utilities commission to assess utility corporations for funds with which to investigate in behalf of the public in rates and valuation proceedings.

The letters cited recent experiences involving expenditure of large sums by the companies in preparing for hearings, with no funds available to the commission to check the companies' figures.

Maj. W. E. R. Covell, assistant to Col. Bell, said only $150 remains available for such work, whereas the two gas companies have spent $100,000 preparing for a pending orders and terrain board firing. available for such work, whereas artillery, eightleth division, or the two gas companies have spent ganized reserves, will study combat orders and terrain board firing.

Abatement Ordered Of 862 Nuisances

Nuisances to the number of 862 have been discovered and ordered abated by the District health department, in the course of its spring cleanup. Of these, 383 have been reported abated. Completion of the survey will take another ten days, it is estimated.

In addition, complaints have been forwarded to other departments of the local government, as follows: 124 to the inspector of buildings, 69 to the plumbing inspector, 44 to the board for condemnation of insanitary buildings, emnation of insanitary buildings, 10 to the fire department, 29 to the Home Band orchestra, Stanley Hall, eet cleaning department and 9 to 5:45 o'clock.

Social Service Group To Call for Donations

Beginning today the wagons of the Salvation Army social service department will make daily calls at residences in all sections of Washington for the collection of discarded articles.

CASE WILL BE TRIED BY JUSTICE HOEHLING

Defendant Appears in Court After More Than Seven Years in Jail.

The task of selecting a jury for the third Wan murder trial began in criminal court yesterday. The prospect at the end of the day was that at least a week would be required to impanel 12 men. Thirty-nine men were excused by the court, most of them because they had read about the case and had formed a conclusive opinion regarding the defendant's guilt or innocence. Others were excused be-Sir Charles Higham, noted advertising expert, of Great Britain, was the guest of honor last night cause they were against capital punishment or lacked faith in cir-cumstantial evidence in a capital was the guest of honor last night at the annual cherry blossom dinner of the Advertising Club of Washington in the hall of nations of the Washington hotel. Ku Klux Klan?" he inquired. Nobody admitted he was a member.

When the session opened, Attorney Lambert wanted to know if the jury was to be locked up. He said there had been "talks, rumors and threats about it from the district attorney's office," and he wanted the question disposed of at the outset.

Locking Up Unlikely.

Maj. Peyton Gordon, the district attorney, replied that he knew of no such threats or rumors, and added that the matter was entirely Indefinitely.

Efforts to establish a Sunday observance law for the District were set back yesterday when the House District judiciary subcommittee, headed by Representative McLeod, of Michigan, postponed indefinitely further hearings.

The proposed law was assailed by Charles W. Darr, representing the Washington Chamber of Commerce, as an entering wedge towards combining church and state. Eighty per cent of the people of this city were opposed to such legislation, Mr. Darr declared.

Joseph A. Burkhardt, representing the Board of Trade, said 800 members had been present at the meeting of the organization at which the proposed legislation was disapproved. The Rev. Sanford B. Horton, of Lansing, Mich., appeared to refute testimony that the
